Lori from IVYP

- mitigates the effects of poverty, racism, and trauma
- provides childcare, community leadership
- All in Isla Vista
 - They hire UCSB Work study students in their children's center
 - Important to them, gives our students work experience in their desired field
 - They provide family advocates in their preschool + elementary schools
 - This person works directly with students to provide mindfulness and mental health support
 - Helps families get the services they need
 - This morning a child in one of their schools experienced racist violence, was attacked by another child and called the n word
 - Immediately wrote to the superintendent about it, IVYP hears about things from parents and is a voice that is highly present in the community
- IVCRC has supported them in the past
- Sohum: how much do you receive in work study from UCSB?
 - They pay ~100k, UCSB pays ~100k
 - They go halvesies
- Vanessa: Have you reached out to other orgs for funding?
 - Yes a number of local foundations
 - Also get government funding
- Funding is drying up due to the pandemic slowing down
 - They build trust with people through their work which makes them want to expand their programs, but they lack the funding to do so
- They're committed to paying their employees a fair wage
 - Especially for their family advocates
 - Increasing their health insurance coverage
- Mulan: Is there a breakdown of where our funding is going?
 - Budget shows we'd be paying for
 - 40% of Work Study
 - 40% of preschool family advocates
 - 40% of elementary family advocates
- Irena: what happens if we can't fund you the full amount
 - They'd keep fundraising and looking for money
 - They'd have to cut back in some places
- Sohum: have you always asked us to pay 40%?
 - She can't recall
 - Probably used to be more than 40% on work study, but now they're asking for money to spend on family advocates
- Sohum: what organizations do they often get the other funding from?
 - Bauer foundation, Santa Barbara foundation
 - State of California is their biggest funding (CA department of social services, CA department of education)
 - City of Goleta
 - IVCSO sometimes, they're asking for funding from them this year
- If we want to volunteer, reach out

- Email IVyouth@ivyp.org or her email is lorig@ivyp.org

Discussion:

- Last year we funded them 70k. At the time we had a budget of 167k.
- Right now we have 145k (excluding Pardall Carnival, which is about 50k)
 - So funding them in full would be over 90% of our budget
- This is because last year we had rollover from the pandemic
- If we fund them in full, would we have enough money for Pardall Carnival?
 - Yes
 - We overestimate with 50k, usually costs about 40k (last year about 37k)
- Mulan: Do we usually have other big requests that tend to come later in the year?
- Alex: it's great work, but there are other important things going on that we may need to help out
- Irena: looking at their donor list now, it looks like their work is very expensive
 - They won't be cutting anything, they'll find a way to make it work
- Yiu-On: IVCRC was originally formed with the charge to fund IVYP
 - AS used to just fund IVYP, then they created IVCRC to do that + put some funding elsewhere
 - We should fund between 50k-70k
 - Between half of the funding and the amount we funded them last year
- Alex: they have a broad reach, they can go to California for funding
 - We should fund them, but even if we don't, there are governmental policies that will fund them
 - Local IV groups might not have the same opportunities to look for funding
- Mulan: their expenses are over 3 mil, this is sort of drop in the bucket
 - Can we fund them in part now so that we have wiggle room, and then give them more later if we have the money left over
- Yiu-On: yes we could do that, but we can't promise them money for later
 - We probably shouldn't even mention that that's our plan, we can just give it to them
 - Don't want them to hold out hope
- Madeline: we should fund them as much as we can, I like Mulan's idea
- Mulan: we don't have to promise them anything, can just tell them to come back
- Vanessa: i'd be inclined to fund them the 70k and tell them to come back if we have more money at the end of the year
- Teya: we shouldn't fund them the full amount
- Alex: how does funding them move forward our goal
 - Is this part of our mission? We're just paying our salaries
- Riley/Yiu-On: same difference, they would just use the funding for something else
- Bobby: I worked for IVYP
 - A lot of people who did work study ended up dropping it
 - They had issues with keeping staff, paying for their salaries could be a huge help
 - He did childcare + education
- Abraham: I would prefer to do under 50k
- Mulan: 50k is a good compromise
- Sohun: do we have an updated budget sheet? Yiu-On: yes

- Yiu-On: 60k? 50k?
- Mulan: once we give it away, there's no getting it back
- motioned to pass 50k / return to discussion
- Alex: they do such important work, we were funded to support them
 - We need to stress in the email
- Mulan: we can always give them more money later
- Sohum: according to current legal code, it doesn't mention anything about IVYP
